Follow Me: A Study of Mark — WEEK 6 Questions

Day 1

- What does it say about God's character that He would be willing to suffer and die for you? Meditate on John 3:16 and Galatians 2:20.
- Why is prayer important in the face of trials and sufferings? How does Jesus model the importance of prayer in this passage?
- How do Jesus's obedience and endurance encourage you in your current trials and sufferings?

Day 2

- How are humility, service, and love more powerful than status or violent opposition?
- Read 1 Peter 2:21–23. What does it look like to follow Jesus's example according to this passage? What does this look like practically for your everyday life?
- How do you see people today living for the kingdom of this world? In what ways do you see yourself living for the kingdom of this world?

Day 3

- Why is it significant that the first person to receive Christ after His death was a Gentile? Consider the temple curtain and your reflections from Week 5 Day 1 on page 117.
- How does Jesus's suffering on the cross impact your own moments of suffering?
- How should you respond to Jesus's death on the cross?

Day 4

- Read 1 Corinthians 15:50–58. How does Christ's resurrection give us victory?

- What does it look like for you to daily live in light of the resurrection?
- How can you use God's Word to help someone who does not believe in Christ's resurrection?

Day 5

- How has your study of Mark impacted your view of Christ?
- What would it look like for you to daily walk in obedience to Christ?
- Write out a prayer below, sharing with God what He taught you in this study and asking Him to help you put into practice what you learned.

Reflect

- Summarize the main points from this week's Scripture readings.
- What did you observe from this week's passages about God and His character?
- What do this week's passages reveal about the condition of mankind and yourself?
- How do these passages point to the gospel?
- How should you respond to these passages? What specific action steps can you take this week to apply them in your life?
- Write a prayer in response to your study of God's Word. Adore God for who He is, confess sins He revealed in your own life, ask Him to empower you to walk in obedience, and pray for anyone who comes to mind as you study.
