Robert Troutman - Mile One Mission

CNBC Conference in St. John's, Newfoundland

This month was focused on hosting our CNBC denomination conference here in St. John's. Our team put in days of work preparing the venue in downtown St. John's during the week before and led music and children's programs throughout the conference.

I was able to lead a prayer time with some of the CNBC team as well as some people from Calvary Baptist Church where we prayed that the Lord will strengthen our partnership in the gospel. The conference was an encouraging time getting to know pastors and church planters from across Canada and the US. We were able to take almost 200 conference attenders on a guided tour of the Mile One Mission church plants in town. The tour ended with a time of prayer at Signal Hill while overlooking the city.

We pray that the Lord will use the relationships formed at the conference for gospel advance in the future and that through this the Lord will provide new financial partners for Mile One Mission to enable my family and I to move to Labrador to strengthen the ministry of Northern Cross Community Church.

Men's study

Our men's group has started working on a study of Biblical masculinity. I have been able to lead studies considering how we are influenced by our past experiences and how God helps us to live according to what he has called us to. Moses in Exodus 2-4 was a helpful example for all of us. Please pray that the Lord will help me as I teach our group to faithfully follow Christ.

Praises

- Successful CNBC Conference
- Ministry opportunities to lead our men's group

Prayer Requests

- That God will provide wisdom and finances as we prepare to move to Labrador.
- That God will work in the hearts of the men I am working to disciple.
