2 Peter 1:12-21

“Don’t Forget to Remember”

1. Why do you think Peter repeatedly emphasizes the need for “reminders” in verses 12–15? What truths are easiest for Christians to forget?
2. Why is remembering the gospel an ongoing need rather than a one-time event?
3. Peter argues that Christianity is based on historical events, not myths or cleverly invented stories (vv. 16–18). Why is this important?
4. Peter connects the Transfiguration to the future return of Christ. How should the certainty of Christ’s return affect the way believers live today?
5. What practical areas of life should be shaped by the expectation that Jesus is coming again?
6. Where do you find it hardest to live with an eternal perspective?
7. Peter’s argument assumes that what we truly believe about the future will shape how we live in the present. How does your daily life reveal what you are hoping in? What would someone conclude about your greatest hopes by observing your priorities, spending, conversations, and schedule?
