Resources for Depression and Anxiety

Many people in our church family struggle with anxiety and depression, and that has only been heightened this year with everything that is going on around us. And there are certainly more that we aren't aware of. We want you to know that this is not something you have to hide, we care, and we want to help in any way we can! Several people in our church family have put together a list of resources - from counselors in the area you can visit, to books and articles you can read.

If you are experiencing suicidal thoughts, please call the lifeline below:

1-800-273-TALK (8255)

You can also visit www.suicidepreventionlifeline.org to chat live with a counselor.

If you are experiencing symptoms of anxiety and depression, reach out to make an appointment with one of our pastors, and we will work with you personally to make sure you are connected and cared for. Ladies, there are women standing by for those more comfortable talking with a women.

We also encourage you to explore the links and contacts below for licensed, Christian therapists in our area. Mental health is complicated, and it often involves different spiritual, emotional, and physical factors that vary from person to person. Different resources on this page will be more/less helpful for different people, so take some time to decide what you feel most comfortable with.
