Beginning in Feb 2019, I will be stepping out of my international recruiting role in Navigators World Missions and will be considering a new leadership role with The Navigators. Over the last year working with the LDI program, I have become increasingly convinced that I need to invest in young and emerging leaders in a more focused way. Good leaders build healthy teams who in turn create fruitful ministries. If the laborers are few (Matt 9:38), the leaders of laborers are fewer. Although the details of this new role are still being discussed, I believe that God is inviting me into a season of broader leadership contribution. Please pray with me during this time of discerning God's leading for my next steps.
