

It's About God

TODAY'S READING: Revelation 15

In Revelation 15, God's people sing a song of victory as the beast is defeated and God has won. This song of Moses is the fulfillment of Exodus 15:1-18 (go read this passage). Just as God redeemed His people and set them free when He delivered them from Egypt, God will ultimately redeem all of His people for all eternity when He returns to judge the nations. We should look forward to this day, Church! We know from Revelation 5 that people from every tribe, tongue and nation will be worshiping God together. Notice that God's people do not focus on the beast that was conquered or each other, they focus on God! They focus on His righteousness, glory, justice and sovereignty.

We should make sure when we talk about Christianity, when we worship, when we listen to God's Word preached and when we share about what God has done in our lives, the focus should not be on us. The focus should be on God. The Bible is not about us, it is about God. In our everyday lives it can be very easy to make everything about ourselves. Because we have a sin nature, our hearts want to make us the center of the universe. We must be reminded daily from God's Word that life is not about us, and that God created us and put us on this earth to point others to Him.

PRAYER: God, I am unworthy and You are worthy. I praise You for redeeming me and setting me free from captivity to sin and death. Use my life to point others to how great You are.

TOMORROW'S READING: Weekend is for catch-up and review.

MONDAY'S READING: Revelation 16
