Group Leaders & Assistants:

If you will follow the arrows as shown on the map (using the entrances & exits as outline), you will be less likely to cross paths with other large groups.

Children get confused about which group is theirs when large groups mix together in hallways.

Always keep your group with you and travel in straight lines through hallways on the right side. The group leader (holding up your class sign) should be the first person in the line and the assistant should be the last. The bell or horn will alert you when it is time to move to your next activity center.
