

PLAYING CATCH WITH YOUR KIDS

By Mike Sciarra

Children respond to parental example. The patterns in our lives have an effect on our children. They see actions, they hear words, they sense attitudes, day after day. Patterns of godliness do a lot to point others to a path of righteousness, while patterns of ungodliness deter others from following the way of Truth. To a large degree, the patterns and life-styles that our children display have been and are effected by what they have seen and what they presently see in us.

As parents, we have the awesome responsibility of bringing up our children in the discipline and instruction of the Lord (Ephesians 6:4). The heart of the home is where the "rubber meets the road" in the Christian life. Our responses to God, His Word, our spouses, and our children all have an effect on our children. These young lives that God has placed in our care see more than we know. They are looking to us for the pattern, the way to live. Their eternity can be impacted by what they see in us in everyday life.

We are playing "catch" every day with our kids! They catch what we do, what we say and how we act! A seminar taught by Pastor Mike Sciarra explores what God has to say about these topics as well as give you opportunities to evaluate the impact you are having in the lives of your kids. As a participant in this seminar you will receive a baseball (You will find out why that night!), a teaching "scorecard" (outlines) as well as a copy of a booklet for parents entitled "Playing Catch With Your Kids."
