THE WORD:

The Spirit of the sovereign Lord is on me, because the Lord has anointed me to preach good news to the poor. He has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, To proclaim freedom for the captives and release from darkness for the prisoners. To proclaim the year of the Lord's favor and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all who mourn, and provide for those who grieve In Zion—to bestow on them a crown of beauty instead of ashes, the oil of gladness instead of mourning and a garment of praise instead of a spirit of despair. They will be called oaks of righteousness, A planting of the Lord for the display of his splendor. They will rebuild the ancient ruins and restore the places long devastated; They will renew the ruined cities that have been devastated for generations aliens will shepherd your flocks; Foreigners will work your fields and vineyards. And you will be called priests of the Lord, you will be named Ministers of our God.

HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE:

Isaiah is speaking out about Judah's sins, and he predicted captivity by foreign nations. Part of this has already happened. The Northern tribes are already captive. Isaiah changes perspective. He projects himself the period of Judah's exile. He writes prophetically as if he were viewing God's people after Jerusalem's destruction. He sees their despair, but he also the restoration of Israel, their return from captivity and the rebuilt city of Jerusalem.

Isaiah declares that his mission at this time is to bring comfort to those already in exile and to those about to be taken captive. Isaiah's prophecies serve further to help the people look forward to the coming of the Messiah and his everlasting kingdom of justice, righteousness and salvation.

Parallels with Messiah:

Suffering servant; restoration through Messiah; God's judgement. BUT... for the righteous, God is preparing a place of eternal joy and peace.
