

Friends,

Greetings from Ndola! We are happy to be back in Zambia in time to welcome new and returning students for Semester 2. It's back-to-school time and, like most of you, our students are returning to online classes.

Meanwhile, health concerns and economic distress create significant struggles for our students, faculty, graduates, and community. In fact, our hospitals are struggling to keep up with the demand for COVID-19 testing, as our neighbors in South Africa rose to the #5 spot in the world for confirmed cases, while cases in Africa as a whole approach one million.

When we returned from the US we had to quarantine for 2 weeks in our house. (Out of an abundance of caution because we've both had multiple negative COVID-19 tests during our time abroad.) Though isolating and difficult, we used Zoom to communicate with the Northrise staff and keep connected. We've experienced first-hand how to make the most of this difficulty, be creative, and use technology to connect and thrive.

We'd like to share with you how Northrise is adapting, creating, and thriving as we welcome students back to school. We'll show pictures from student orientation, progress on the campus construction projects, stories directly from students and graduates, and give you a chance to ask questions.

Please register for the webinar and ask questions so we can update you on your concerns for Northrise.

Shalom,

Moffat & Doreen
