

MISSIONARIES OF THE MONTH:

The Granberry Family

Chris & Mary Granberry serve with Sacred Road Ministries, a PCA-affiliated missions organization that serves on the Yakama, WA, and Warm Springs, OR Reservations. Sacred Road is a church-planting Ministry of the Pacific Northwest Presbytery. It is one of their goals to establish a church-planting network that works in Indigenous communities across the Pacific Northwest. There are sixty reservations in Washington, Oregon, and Idaho and they would love to see healthy churches planted on many of them!

From a recent SR email update:

This summer, we hosted five weeks of Short Term teams on the Yakama Reservation and - for the first time ever - two weeks in Lapwai, Idaho with the Nez Perce tribe! Churches, families, and individuals from all across the United States came to serve with us this summer!

We also hosted Kid's Club across five different locations. We estimate that we had about 250 children come through Kid's Club! We are thankful for the opportunities to teach each of these children more about Jesus and His love for them! One of the most exciting milestones was the addition of short-term teams serving in the Nez Perce community of Lapwai, Idaho! Chris and Mary traveled from Yakama to Lapwai to help host one-week teams there. They partnered with the local Boys and Girls Club - facilitating Kid's Club and spending the week repainting the building for them as a worksite for the teams. By the end of the second week, the networking that was able to happen and the connections that were deepened in Lapwai were huge answers to prayer!

Please continue to pray for the Granberrys' daughter, Beth, as she recovers and tries to regain health and strength after a long battle with cancer.
