

Thursday May 7 National Day of Prayer
“Pray on the Top of the Hour – On the Top of the Mountain”

Years ago, some Christian leaders like Loren Cunningham (Youth With a Mission) and Bill Bright (Campus Crusade for Christ or “Cru”) recognized seven “spheres of influence”, or “seven mountains” that exist in every culture. These outside influences shape the way people think. These external influences are so powerful that whole countries can be steered toward or away from Christ. These Christian leaders also acknowledged that the Body of Christ has little influence in some of these spheres even though God has called us into the world as salt and light! We need to pray over these seven mountains for revival in the Church and witnessing to the world.

Of course, not all these spheres are the responsibility of the church. After all, Jesus said His kingdom is not of this world. However, we are called to be salt and light in the world and to influence the world with the gospel. You can take the initiative to find and pray with Christians in your sphere of responsibility and seek together to influence it for blessing, peace and righteousness by the power of His Spirit.

This prayer guide can help you pray over each mountain. Pray the Lord will raise up believers who hear the call to climb these mountains with the gospel in hand. Pray they will exercise Christ’s authority, not be afraid to bring Christ into every part of their lives and will be a strong influence on those around them.

Pray for your church and churches in your community. Pray for a spirit of unity to break out among the churches in your community. Pray that churches would band together as a unified army to effectively win the lost in their towns together. Pray that the Church would see the enemy as out THERE, and not each other.
