-Pray for wisdom as we continue to make plans for September and get ready to kick off our Wednesday night program for kids at the end of September

August was a full and busy month. We continue to see new families every week at church and we are so thankful that God continues to provide the volunteers needed to run our children's programs. I spent a lot of time this month working on our fall/winter volunteer schedule for Sunday mornings. We have a team of 86 volunteers divided over 4 teams that serve and teach our kids on Sunday mornings.

Another fun project I got to work on this month was designing bracelets that will be given to our all kids and volunteers this fall. We've been teaching through the gospel plan and these bracelets will be a tool for kids to share their faith with those they meet outside of church.

We also are launching a new curriculum for our preschool-grade 3 kids which we are very excited about. We continue to learn and grow in how to best meet kids where they are at and share the truth of God's word in a way that connects with their hearts.
