Resolution Suggestion #12—Count Your Steps

Several years ago it became fashionable to measure one's progress toward fitness by counting steps. It got easier as technology advanced and you no longer needed a bulky pedometer, so that now your watch or your phone probably does it automatically for you with no extra effort on your part. The counting of steps turned into a measure of progress, even if you didn't really go anywhere. With the counting of steps, the destination—a greater level of fitness—is somewhat implied, while the location is somewhat immaterial.

Paul wrote, "For we walk by faith and not by sight" (2 Corinthians 5:7). I don't know that anyone has ever read that verse and asked, What steps? Where are we going? The destination is implied. For the previous several verses, Paul had been putting in contrast the physical and the spiritual, things temporal and things eternal. The steps, and the subsequent progress, may not lead us directly to that objective destination, but they are essential to the arriving at the destination, a part of the process, if you will.

When we are counting physical steps, your pedometer watch or phone doesn't care if you are on a walking path intentionally seeking to exercise, or if you are in a store, or walking the dog, or taking out the trash. To the pedometer, all the steps are the same, and they all add up. You may know that some of those steps are more substantial than others (for example, if you are intentionally engaged in exercise), and yet every one matters.

When we are walking by faith, not by sight, we have to remember that every one of those steps matters as well. We may view some of those spiritual steps as being more significant than others—as indeed they likely are—yet we cannot afford to overlook the other spiritual steps that we take. That is because Jesus did not call us to be His disciples only when we are "on the clock." Faith must be a part of our lives and not something saved for special occasions. Those steps of faith we take whenever our faith is tried certainly add up. In the parable of the talents, the lord of the servants said, "Well done, good and faithful servant; you were faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into the joy of your lord" (Matthew 25:21). So keep counting those spiritual steps.

Love Demonstrated

But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8)

God did not just tell us He loved us and then left it there. As the preceding verse states, God demonstrated, revealed, and validated His love for mankind by allowing Jesus to be crucified, thus bearing the sins of all undeserving people. After showing us the greatest act of love, He now commands us to love others. (1 John 4:11). As we comply to the second greatest command, "love your neighbor" (Mark 12:29-31), it becomes so easy to shake the hand or hug the neck of a fellow Christian and say, "I love you." However, the love that the Lord requires of us is much more than a verbal acknowledgment. The love which God demands is not a love spoken, but a love shown. Notice how we are to demonstrate love:

- Doing good and showing mercy for our enemies (Luke 6:35-36)
- Giving preference to each other (Romans 12:10)
- Serving one another (Galatians 5:13)
- Putting up with each other's imperfections (Ephesians 4:2)
- Sacrificing ourselves for our family (Ephesians 5:25)
- Being ready to meet urgent needs of others (Titus 3:14)
- Encourage one another to do good works (Hebrews 10:24)
- Being enthusiastic in expressing our love for each other (1 Peter 1:22)
- Showing compassion for each other (1 Peter 3:8)
