Life Group Discussion Guide

Big Idea: God's people should tell others what He has done, trusting that hearing His works can lead them to worship Him.

After a time of Welcoming, say a short prayer to invite the Holy Spirit to speak through His Word. Then, listen to a song or two of Worship. You can pull those songs from YouTube, Spotify, etc. and invite people to sing along if they are comfortable or just listen.

Have a volunteer read Exodus 18:1–12, and then use these questions to have a good discussion. Emphasize applying God's Word to the specific lives of your group members.

1. What part of the sermon this Sunday impacted you most, and why?
2. Jethro was the priest of Midian, a place that worshiped many false gods. What stands out to you about Jethro's response when Moses tells him everything God has done? What does this teach us about the value of sharing stories of God's faithfulness?
3. Why do you think hearing about God's character and works can lead people to worship?
4. Look at Exodus 18:8. Moses tells Jethro about both the Israelites' hardships and how God rescued them. Why is it important to tell people not only that God has blessed us, but also how He has carried us through difficult things?
5. What are some things God has done in your life that you could tell someone else about?
6. Why can it sometimes feel easier to talk about other things than about what God has done?
7. Moses didn't make himself the hero of the story; he pointed toward what God had done. Why is it important that when we share our stories, we make God—not ourselves—the center? How can we make sure to do this?
8. Read Romans 10:13–15. Why does God use His people to tell others about Jesus? What does this passage teach us about the importance of actually speaking about the gospel?
9. Think about the people God has placed around you. Who is someone you regularly interact with who may need to hear about what God has done—and ultimately hear the good news about Jesus?
10. How could you use something God has done in your life as a bridge to explain who Jesus is, what He has done through His death and resurrection, and why they need to trust in Him?

End by praying for the people you identified. Ask God to give you opportunities and courage to tell them what He has done.
