

Scripture: Theology, Text & Transmission

Class 11: The Apocrypha

Review

Last week we looked at the history of how Christians settled on the canon of Scripture. We saw that we can have confidence that we have the right collection of books in our Bible.

This week

This week we are taking a detour and giving an overview of the Apocrypha. These books are not in Scripture, but they are worth knowing about and learning from as they witness to Scripture and help us understand the world Scripture was written in.

The lesson is completely on a powerpoint today but the following points are covered. The power point will be available by email and on the church website at <https://www.theheightschurchmn.org/adult-sunday-school>

1. Why Study the Apocrypha
2. Cautions about the Apocrypha
3. Overview/Highlights from the Apocrypha – book by book

A Look Ahead at Next Week

- I am out of town but the plan is that there will be a class next week.
- On my return we will move on to discussing how we are confident in the Text of Scripture (textual criticism) and then finally we will discuss Bible translations.

Scripture: Theology, Text & Transmission

Class 11: The Apocrypha

Review

Last week we looked at the history of how Christians settled on the canon of Scripture. We saw that we can have confidence that we have the right collection of books in our Bible.

This week

This week we are taking a detour and giving an overview of the Apocrypha. These books are not in Scripture, but they are worth knowing about and learning from as they witness to Scripture and help us understand the world Scripture was written in.

The lesson is completely on a powerpoint today but the following points are covered. The power point will be available by email and on the church website at <https://www.theheightschurchmn.org/adult-sunday-school>

1. Why Study the Apocrypha
2. Cautions about the Apocrypha
3. Overview/Highlights from the Apocrypha – book by book

A Look Ahead at Next Week

- I am out of town but the plan is that there will be a class next week.
- On my return we will move on to discussing how we are confident in the Text of Scripture (textual criticism) and then finally we will discuss Bible translations.