

Money Series

Gospel Centered Stewardship

INTRO

“The best things in life are free, but you can give them to the birds and bees, I need money (that’s what I want). Your love gives me such a thrill, but your love don’t pay my bills, I need money” -Barrett Strong.

The song “Money (that’s what I want)” by Barrett Strong understands there’s a utility behind money that doesn’t always intersect with the overly idyllic notion that money can’t buy you happiness. During our five week money series we examined a biblical worldview of money, possessions, and stewardship of our resources. We were challenged to use our finances to advance God’s kingdom over our kingdom. All “our” stuff is God’s stuff. So we ought to spend it on Him, by risking His resources for His kingdom purposes.

BIBLE STUDIES

Consider these five resources for personal or group study.

Investment Guide: This short guide created by The Well, walks you through making decisions on how and what you are personally called to serve and give. LINK

Treasure Principle Bible Study, by Randy Alcorn is a great short bible study on what we have and why we have it. LINK

20 Day Personal Study on Stewardship: This bible study and discussion, created by Redeemer Presbyterian is super helpful and practical. LINK

Money Wise Group Study: This study created by Watermark Community Church, will challenge you to get into the weeds, getting super practical to biblically reorient the way you use your money for God. LINK

Generosity Guide: These questions and scriptures, created by The Well, will help you to take a brief look at your generosity, guiding you to free your heart from the shackles of your stuff. LINK

BOOKS

Money, Possessions and Eternity by, Randy Alcorn is a robust biblical look at what we have and why we have it. LINK

Treasure Principle, by Randy Alcorn is a condensed version of the same content. LINK