This is not a “study each chapter” plan. It is a “read through the Bible in a year” plan. The idea is that you'll end up reading 3-5 chapters most days. If you want to use it as a study plan, I'd recommend picking one passage/chapter from each day for focused reading/journaling/prayer.

You'll get through the Gospels, Psalms and Proverbs twice. Everything else you'll read once.

It's also organized so that while you're in a section that might be harder to read or apply, like Leviticus or 2 Chronicles, on that same week, you're also reading other things, like a Psalm or a New Testament epistle.

*Psalm 119 is long – spread it out over 3 days
