Since the resurrection of Jesus, satan is restrained

The restraining of Satan is not something we look _____ to, it's something we live in light of _____.

The restraint of Satan is that he can no longer keep the nations in total _____ from the _____ - like he once did.

When Jesus rose from the dead, he didn't only defeat sin, He also _____ the hold of the one who kept people _____ to sin.

Through the resurrection of Jesus, believers are raised

When believers die, their souls come to life with Jesus _____ after death.

To be a priest and reign with Christ means you will be _____ God, you will _____ his character, and you will share in the _____ of his kingdom.

By the resurrection of Jesus, evil is ruined

This passage shows us that evil will not just be stopped or removed, it will be brought to ruin through _____ and _____ judgment.

When the evil around you looks strong, you don't need to panic, you need to remember you're facing a _____ enemy. And when evil seems to go unpunished, remember Jesus himself will _____ evil more thoroughly than you ever could.

Because Jesus has secured the final victory, God's people can live in its reality now.
