

A photograph of two women in India. One woman, wearing a purple sari, is operating a black 'DIPLOMA' brand sewing machine. Another woman, wearing a colorful sari with pink, yellow, and red patterns, is smiling and looking towards the camera. The background shows other people in a simple, possibly outdoor or semi-outdoor, setting.

A sewing machine has been given in the name of

to bless an impoverished woman in India, so that she might be able to begin her own business and provide for herself and her children.

Thank you for your generous gift!

...but is also overflowing in many thanksgivings to God.

-II Corinthians 9:12b