Ears of grain

BARLEY

WHEAT

RYE

An ear is the grain-bearing tip part of the stem of a cereal plant, such as wheat or maize (corn). Pictured above are three unripe ears (of barley, wheat, and rye):

Leviticus offerings

Type of offering	Hebrew Offering Name	Verses	Purpose	Portions	Priest Job	Worshiper's Job
Burnt	Olah – means to ascend or go up. Probably referring to the fact that it was all consumed or burnt like smoke going up to God.	1:1-17	A voluntary gift offered to God for atonement for general sin (inherited sinful nature) and showing devotion and thanks to God.	God: gets everything but the skin Priest: skin Worshiper: None	Accepts offering, collects blood, throws blood onto the sides of the altar, burns on altar	Brings offering, lay hands, slays, skins, cuts into pieces
Grain	Minhah – means to give such as a gift or a present. We honor people when giving a gift particularly when we are in the presence of someone greater such as God.	2:1-16	A voluntary expression of dedication and devotion and honor to God for his goodness and provision.	God: incense, oil, memorial portion of flour and grain Priest: left over grain Worshiper: None	Burns memorial portion, keeps remainder	Prepare and bring offering
